The effect of strategic alliances on competitive advantage in the travel and tourism industry in Kenya: a case study of selected tour operators in Nairobi City County.

by

Christine Sitawa Kharemwa
12-0001

A thesis presented to the School of Business and Economics of Daystar University, Nairobi, Kenya

In partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of

MASTER OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION in Strategic Management

November 2018
APPROVAL

THE EFFECT OF STRATEGIC ALLIANCES ON COMPETITIVE ADVANTAGE IN THE TRAVEL AND TOURISM INDUSTRY IN KENYA: A CASE STUDY OF SELECTED TOUR OPERATORS IN NAIROBI CITY COUNTY.

by
Christine Sitawa
12-0001

In accordance with Daystar University policies, this thesis is accepted in partial fulfillment of requirements for the Master of Business Administration degree

Signed: Date:

__________________________                                               ______________________
Michael Bowen, PhD
1st Supervisor

__________________________                                               ______________________
Mr. Richard Maswili
2nd Supervisor

__________________________                                               ______________________
Samuel Muriithi, PhD
HoD, Commerce Department

__________________________                                               ______________________
Evans Amata, PhD,
Dean, School of Business and Economics
DECLARATION

THE EFFECT OF STRATEGIC ALLIANCES ON COMPETITIVE ADVANTAGE IN THE TRAVEL AND TOURISM INDUSTRY IN KENYA: A CASE STUDY OF SELECTED TOUR OPERATORS IN NAIROBI CITY COUNTY.

by
Christine Sitawa
12-0001

I hereby declare that this thesis is my original work and has not been submitted to any college university for academic credit.

Signed: ____________________                                   Date: _________________________
Christine Sitawa
(12-0001)
ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am grateful to God for granting me the grace and favor to complete this research. I am entirely grateful for my family for being very supportive throughout my studies. I cannot thank them enough for the support and sacrifice they have accorded me throughout this journey. My gratitude also goes to my supervisors, Prof Michael Bowen and Mr. Richard Maswili for their time in guiding me through this thesis. I acknowledge the entire leadership at the School of Business, Daystar University for the role they played towards the success of this research and my entire MBA studies.
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS AND ACRYONYMS

ARU             Australian Rugby Union
GDP             Gross Domestic Product
SCP             Structure Conduct Performance
STO             Sport Tour Operator
SWOT            Strengths Weaknesses Opportunities and Threats
UNWTO           United Nations World Tourism Organization
TABLE OF CONTENT

| APPROVAL                                      | ii |
| DECLARATION                                   | iv |
| ACKNOWLEDGEMENT                               | v  |
| LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS AND ACRONYMOMYS         | vi |
| LIST OF TABLES                                | x  |
| LIST OF FIGURES                               | xi |
| ABSTRACT                                      | xii|

INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND OF THE STUDY

- Introduction ........................................... 1
- Background of the Study ............................. 2
- Strategic Alliances ................................... 2
- Competitive Advantage ............................... 3
- Global Perspective .................................... 4
- Local Perspective ...................................... 5
- Strategic Alliances and Competitive Advantage 6
- Travel and Tourism Industry in Kenya .......... 9
- Statement of the Problem ............................ 10
- Purpose of the Study .................................. 11
- Objectives of the Study .............................. 11
- Research Questions ................................... 12
- Justification for the study ......................... 12
- Significance of the study ......................... 13
- Scope of the Study ..................................... 14
- Limitations and Delimitations ..................... 14
- Assumptions ............................................. 14
- Definition of Terms ................................... 15
- Travel .................................................... 15
- Tourism ................................................. 15
- Travel and Tourism Industry ....................... 15
- Tour Operator ......................................... 15
- Strategic Alliances .................................... 15
- Competitive Advantage .............................. 16

LITERATURE REVIEW

- Introduction ........................................... 17
- Theoretical Framework ............................... 17
- Transaction Cost Theory ............................. 17
- Grant’s Resource-Based Theory of Strategic Alliances ... 18
- Grant’s Knowledge Accessing Theory of Strategic Alliances ... 20
- Michael Porter’s Five Forces Theory of Competitive Advantage ... 21
- Bain’s Market Based View Theory of Competitive Advantage ... 23
- General Literature Review ........................... 24
Strategic Alliances ................................................................. 24
Joint Marketing ...................................................................... 27
Co-branding .......................................................................... 28
Collaborative Innovation ....................................................... 29
Competitive Advantage .......................................................... 30
Growth in Market Share .......................................................... 32
Growth in Sales ..................................................................... 33
Customer Satisfaction ............................................................. 33
Differentiated Unique Products/Services ................................. 36
Challenges Firms Face in Implementing Strategic Alliances ........ 37
Government Policy ................................................................. 37
Culture Clash ........................................................................ 38
Empirical Literature ............................................................... 39
Conceptual Framework .......................................................... 42
Research Gap ........................................................................ 43
Summary of Chapter Two ....................................................... 43
CHAPTER THREE ........................................................................
RESEARCH METHODOLOGY .............................................
Introduction ........................................................................ 44
Research Design .................................................................... 44
Descriptive Research Design .................................................. 44
Population ........................................................................... 45
Target Population .................................................................. 45
Sample Size .......................................................................... 45
Sampling Technique .............................................................. 46
Purposive Sampling ............................................................... 46
Data Collection Instruments .................................................... 46
Pretesting ............................................................................ 47
Validity and Reliability .......................................................... 47
Data Analysis ........................................................................ 48
Presentation .......................................................................... 48
Ethical Considerations ........................................................... 49
Summary of Chapter Three ..................................................... 49
CHAPTER FOUR .........................................................................
DATA PRESENTATION, ANALYSIS AND INTERPRETATION ........
Introduction ......................................................................... 50
Presentation, Analysis and Interpretation ................................. 50
Reliability Statistics ............................................................... 50
Response Rate ...................................................................... 50
Demographic Characteristics of the Study Population ............... 51
Gender of Respondents .......................................................... 51
Educational Level of the Respondents ..................................... 52
Tour Company Experience in the Sector ................................. 53
Partnerships .......................................................................... 54
Annual Turnover ................................................................... 55
Descriptive Statistics for Independent Variables ....................... 55
LIST OF TABLES

Table 4.1  Education Level of Respondents .................................................................52
Table 4.2  Age of Respondents .................................................................................53
Table 4.3  Experience in the Sector .........................................................................53
Table 4.4  Partnerships ...............................................................................................54
Table 4.5  Annual Turnover.......................................................................................55
Table 4.6  Strategic Alliances ....................................................................................56
Table 4.7  Competitive Advantage ..........................................................................57
Table 4.8  Growth in Market Share ...........................................................................58
Table 4.9  Growth in Sales .......................................................................................59
Table 5.0  Customer Satisfaction .............................................................................59
Table 5.1  Differentiated Products ...........................................................................60
Table 5.2  Challenges ...............................................................................................61
Table 5.3  Other Challenges .....................................................................................62
LIST OF FIGURES

Figure 2.1:  The Five Competitive Forces (Porter, 1980) .......................................................... 22
Figure 2.2:  Conceptual Framework (2018) ................................................................................ 42
Figure 4.1:  Gender of Respondents ............................................................................................ 51
ABSTRACT

The concept of strategic alliances has gained attention in the recent past as firms seek to attain a competitive advantage in the tourism and travel industry in Kenya. The current highly unpredictable and competitive environment is having a profound impact on the tourism travel industry which has led to the formation of alliances to withstand the turbulent times. The study focused on 45 selected tour operators in Nairobi obtained from the Kenya Association of Tour operators in Kenya using purposive sampling technique. The researcher interviewed 3 representatives from each company drawn from the director’s office, finance and marketing departments. The study found out that various strategic alliances were used by tour companies, these are, collaborative innovation, joint marketing and co-branding. Most tour companies entered into alliances with hotels and travel agencies who have a direct link with customers. These alliances were all found to have an effect in achieving competitive advantage by tour operators in Nairobi City County achieve competitive advantage. It was found out that strategic alliances helped in developing differentiated products, growing sales volume, enhancing customer satisfaction and increasing the companies’ market share. The study recommended that further studies should be done to be able to understand what other factors, apart from strategic alliance, [what other factors] will enable tour companies in Kenya to enhance their competitive advantage. The researcher recommends that tour companies adopt strategic alliances through joint marketing, collaborative innovation and co-branding to enhance their competitive position in the market. However, the alliances should be regulated by establishing policies and guidelines on their implementation to ensure mutual benefit between alliance partners.